2. Departmental and Programme Overview

KwaZulu-Natal Department of Economic Development, Tourism and Environmental Affairs derives its mandate of economic growth and transformation from the Constitution of South Africa and a plethora of national legislative, policies and strategic frameworks. The Acts, Policies and Strategies are critical to direct the vision and mandate of the Department, and it is only through efficiency in the implementation of the legislation, policies, and strategies that the Department can meaningfully contribute to the fight against the triple challenges of development viz. unemployment, inequality, and poverty. These provide the frameworks for the departments economic planning, development of policies, organizational structure and operational functioning of various programmes and units. The strategic focus of the department is based on the following key policy principles of: Economic transformation, Advancement of Rural and Township economies, Spatial Economic Transformation, Economic Modernization and renewal, Localization of economic value chains, Beneficiation and value addition, Export focused industrial development, Commonality of Purpose/ Goal Congruence, Innovation and Fourth Industrial revolution, Research and Development, Black industrialization, Building Robust Public Private Partnerships, Investment Promotion; and Entrepreneurship development (small business and cooperative development).

Within the structures of KZN EDTEA is a programme called Trade, Sector and Tourism Development. Its purpose is to stimulate economic growth through the promotion of trade and investment in prioritized economic growth sectors and the implementation of strategic initiatives to advance industrial development. The strategic focus of the programme is to increase the manufacturing capabilities of the province and to support our industries to remain globally competitive and sustainable. Key to the work of the programme includes assisting industries to access local value chains, global value-chains and international markets.

Included in this programme is a subprogramme called Strategic Industrial Interventions whose purpose is to provide and facilitate the development of strategic industrial interventions and catalytic infrastructure initiatives with particular focus on the Maritime, Aerotropolis, Industrial Economic Hubs, Techno Hubs, and Special Economic Zones.

Smart Clothing and Textile Factories

In apparel Smart Factories, production processes, inclusive of designing, cutting, sewing, buttoning, ironing, quality control, packaging, and shipment, are hurtling towards innovative approaches for production, adopting the following methods as indicated below:

Digital Information Transfer

- Modelling/drawing the garment sketch in 3D format.
- Examining the model in a digital environment supported by virtual reality technologies.
- Sending the drawings/markers of the product to the cutting system via a wireless network in a digital environment using the cloud technology infrastructure.
- Protecting industrial devices against cyber-security threats, while implementing digital information transfer by establishing a reliable data communication on a secure and flexible network infrastructure.

Predictive Maintenance	Predictive maintenance comprises a variety of data analytics and statistical techniques to uncover hidden patterns and capture relationships among devices. It mainly aims to predict possible device or equipment failures and to define a maintenance strategy accordingly, in order to decrease failure rate and increase device utilization.
	Cyber-physical systems equipped with sensors, actuators, and processors are intelligent electronic systems with internet connectivity. They comprise extracting optimized decisions to preserve the capability and the functionality of the system by controlling problems of devices from large data-streams in real-time. They can construct self-optimizing decisions by anticipating errors and quality problems that can occur.
Human-Robot Technology	Carrying fabrics from the warehouse to the cutting room by
Collaboration in Cutting	cyber-physical systems.
	Spreading the fabric on the cutting table by cyber-physical systems and robots.
	Completing the cutting operation through laser systems with a minimum-level of human interaction.
Intelligent Manufacturing	RFID tags placed on the garments contain information on how to make, iron, button, wash, and pack. It is a method for automatic recognition of individual objects using radio frequency.
	RFID readers placed in each production station are integrated with the system. By reading the RFID tag of a product, the information on where the buttons are to be placed or the type of the button is received and the button operation is performed via the cyber physical systems based on this information.
	By reading the RFID tag of a garment, the information about the water temperature for washing operation and the optimum temperature for ironing operation is obtained, and the machines set the degrees automatically for washing and ironing operations without any human-machine interaction.

Robotic Quality Control	To satisfy customer requirements, the final product must meet certain quality criteria that are predetermined before delivery to the customer. These quality standards include criteria such as the accuracy of the product's body measurements, the quality of the fabric, and manufacturing operations. Today, quality control is done by humans, but this sometimes causes incorrect results. In the context of digitalization, computer-aided quality control systems have been established to speed up the quality control process, increase its success, and collect production-related data regularly.
	Advanced image processing methods and machine learning approaches provide the capability for easily reporting quality problems of the final product.
Packaging with Cyber Physical	The packaging process is done according to the information
Systems	contained in the RFID label, so that there is no human interaction with the cyber physical systems.
	The RFID labels are put on the products to make the production information accessible by the customer, hence increasing the transparency.

The Kwazulu-Natal Clothing and Textile industry is obliged to adopt digitalized, data driven smart manufacturing with convergence of different technologies and more adoptive machine-human interface and the following innovative approaches to production:

- End-to-end Digital Integration
- Digitalized Product Design
- Customer's Real-Time Order Tracking
- Real-Time Production Planning
- Real-Time Product Tracking
- Real-Time Employee Performance Management
- Real-Time Supplier Performance Management
- Production Line Balancing
- Human-Robot Technology Collaboration in Warehouse Management
- Real-Time Warehouse Management
- Sewing Training with Augmented Reality
- Training Robots with Kinect Technology

With this adoption the following benefits can be accrued.

Shorten time and cost to market.

- Increased productivity and efficiency.
- Seamless information flow across the value chain.
- Enhance value addition.
- Reduce cost by a certain percentage every year.
- Reduce rejection rate by a certain proportion due to better control on quality.
- Become globally competitive.

Digitalization of the Clothing and Textile industry, with a more intense focus on emerging technologies requires the shift from a low-skilled labour force towards more high-skilled complex jobs.

KZN Clothing and Textile Industry

The clothing and apparel industry which is one of the prioritized sectors for economic development in KwaZulu-Natal, involves the use of fabric and materials to produce men's, women's, and children's clothing. A key intervention for the KZN Clothing and Textile sector is the Madadeni Clothing and Textile Industrial Economic Hub (IEH).

The Madadeni Clothing and Textile Industrial Economic Hub (IEH) is being carried out as a crucial and integral segment of the industrial economic hubs which are inclusive of the provincial industrial development derived from the provincial Growth and Development strategy, aligned to national policies and strategies. Amajuba District Municipality, Ward 19, Section 6 in Madadeni Industrial Ithala Estate has previously been identified and endorsed as the viable location for the Clothing and Textile Industrial Economic Hub. The site is adequate to house large-scale anchor tenants, SMMEs, and entrepreneurial clothing and textile industry operators and incubators.

The Clothing and Textile Industrial Economic Hub strives to augment advancement of local clothing and textile entrepreneurs. An incubation centre in the clothing and textile Industrial Economic Hub will cover the theoretical and physical training of the value chain of Clothing and Textiles, that is the manufacturing of fabric and clothing. This will enable the nurturing of MSMEs, Cooperatives, and entrepreneurial Clothing and Textile Start-Ups and existing initiatives to extend their capacity and further grow their businesses to the next level.

The digital and automation pattern design clothing and textile training programme will feed into the incubation centre programme. It is a skill the entrepreneurs will possess and utilize in the functioning of their establishments, and it's also a vital skill they will utilize when accessing the services that will be rendered by the incubation centre. One of the challenges encountered in the Clothing and Textile MSMEs and cooperative establishments is the lack of digitalized and automation pattern design skills. The digital patternmaking will assist on the cost saving of the organization as it has the best efficiency in calculating the net rating, thus saving fabric cost and eliminating any manual pattern-making mistakes.

Integration in the use of ICT for the enhancement of the Clothing and Textile Sector at the already established and equipped Newcastle Techno Hub would kickstart the acquirement of Digital and Automated Pattern Design Skills.

3. Purpose of the TOR

The purpose of this document is the appointment of a service provider to provide and conduct a digital pattern design skills training programme at the Techno Hub in Newcastle municipality. The Digital Pattern Design Skills Training will be conducted by Service Providers who already have licenses and experience for customized pattern design software. The training programme is to be conducted at the already ICT equipped Techno Hub in Newcastle. The TOR specifies the requirements of KZN EDTEA to be responded to by potential bidders. Potential bidders can include a firm or consortium of firms or a consortium of individual experts.

The Department is looking for service providers who can effectively demonstrate how they will deliver these objectives, whilst providing value for money. It is therefore important that prospective bidders, clearly and concisely describe their plans for each of the specific outcomes, timeframes, resource allocations, deliverables, and risk management strategies.

The Service Providers will have to provide the following services for the project:

- Source 35 participants from Newcastle (Newcastle Municipality) and surrounding areas.
- Undertake the provision of a Digital Pattern Design Skills Training programme at the Techno Hub in Newcastle.

4. Project objectives

Industry is undergoing significant transformation regarding the way we produce products thanks to the digitalization of production. This transition is so compelling that it has forced upon us a Digital Revolution in production. The Digital Revolution, began with the use of the first programmable management system. With this revolution, ICT has started to be used in most industries and the transition from analogue to digital technology has been achieved thanks to integrated systems obtained in the light of developments in microprocessors, software and telecommunication domains. Hence, shifts are occurring in production that give rise to Smart Factories.

Thus, KZN EDTEA is called upon to support the province's participation in Industry 4.0 and pursue programs to support such efforts. Two such programme is the Industrial Hubs and Techno Hubs which are key vehicles to help businesses overcome entry barriers to existing business ecosystems established by big technological players in the growing field of Digitalization and Automation. Undertaking the Digital Pattern Design Skills Programme at the Techno Hubs, will spur improved and efficient productivity, entrepreneurship and job creation. It would inculcate modernization and appropriate infrastructure to upgrade skills required for digital and automation-based job opportunities.

This programme will see the integration of two of the provinces prioritized projects viz the Industrial Hubs and the Techno Hubs programme. As innovative concepts change with digitalization and automation, integrating the ICT and Clothing and Textile programmes will engender possibilities that generate a high skilled labour force producing precision products and services, better ways to serve customers, new types of jobs and wholly new business models. Thus, KZN EDTEA needs to harness the full potential of integrating digitalization and automation technologies and programmes jointly into the industrial hubs and techno hubs initiative to enable citizens and society to better participate in industry 4.0. This effort can be accomplished by incorporating a Digital Pattern Design Skills programme at the Techno Hub in Newcastle.

The following points contribute to the strengths of implementing the project.

- KZN has decided to develop the province into a smart, leading edge, innovative, technologically enhanced region utilizing advanced technologies seamlessly across prioritized growth sectors.
- Phase One of the Newcastle Techno Hub (Technology Park) has been constructed and equipped with ICT equipment.
- ICT and 3D Printing and Drone equipment have already been installed at the Techno Hubs.
- There are several youth, successful students and new generation up-starts that have the capability of acquiring industry 4.0 skills. This capability extends to create, inaugurate and implement applications across techno-economic paradigms, utilizing Digital and Automation technologies.
- There are several individuals/companies and organizations with innovative ideas that can give rise to new business models
 by acquiring digital and automation skills in Digital Pattern Design and who require support from the Industrial and Techno Hub.

The project will provide the following opportunities:

- Enable acquirement of Digital Pattern Design skills utilizing Pattern sketching and modelling software on a computer.
- Provide inhabitants in the Techno Hubs region with the necessary skills to start Digital Design Clothing and Fashion businesses.
- Attainment of Digital Design Pattern skills to produce highly precise prototypes.
- Mould KZN into a technology enhanced fourth industrial revolution region that is globally competitive.
- Enable the adoption and diffusion of innovative products produced with Digital Design software.
